MODELING IS BUSINESS

Welcome to the 5th edition of Fourwall Magazine, tagged La Boss x Model Classic. These two personalities represent the La Boss x Model Classic this edition was tagged.

It is our belief that this edition will further enlighten our readers about modeling and help clients to hire best of models for their next job.

Many models do not take the modeling industry seriously and don't understand that this is a business and they are in business for themselves as they're represented, developed and nurtured as their own brand.

I encourage models to stay committed as this is a very competitive industry and they should know that all great things take time and Rome wasn't built in a day this includes being a top model.

Building a brand and strong portfolio does take time, i encourage models, aspiring models not to give up when they have been attending castings or jobs and not getting the booked. Then models should learn not to take it personally as the industry is changing all the time and it's based on what the client wants.

This edition also spread interesting topics on Career, Health, Fashion and the list goes on...

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT E-MONEY?

By Emmanuel Abazu

The business man has disclosed that he never had anything and had struggled for a long time even when he had his traditional marriage, he had nothing but things turned around while he was on his way back with his wife from their traditional marriage.

He stated that it was on their way back he received a call that he has been awarded a contract worth 2 million dollars and that was the beginning of the change in his life.

In his words, "We were on our way to Lagos when I received a phone call informing me that I had been awarded a $2m contract and that is how our lives changed forever."

Confessing to why he married his wife, Juliet, E-Money, disclosed that she happens to be the first woman he would call his girlfriend whom he fell in love with who was God-fearing and was not about material things.

"When we met, I was a young man who was struggling to make ends meet and she was equally very young. She was in her sophomore year at the university. Because she was my first girlfriend and the first woman I ever loved, I remained faithful to her.

I was looking for a God-fearing lady who wasn't excessively concerned with material possessions and who I could plan a future with. Fortunately, I found those qualities in her.

Even though I lived in Ajegunle, with my brothers at that time, she visited me on several occasions. I remember that on one of those occasions, she fell into a gutter in a flooded street," He told Punch.

He is the proud CEO of Emmy Cargoes Limited, Emeka Okonkwo, popularly known as E-Money; he is fondly called Arab money due to his flamboyant lifestyle. Not many people can identify him as the man who is one of the biggest players in Nigeria's shipping, oil and gas industries and he is also the C.E.O of Five star Music that produced artistes like Kcee (The Limpopo crooner), and Skibi.

He is into oil and gas and entertainment industry as the CEO of Five Star Music. You don't need a soothsayer to tell you that E-money's favorite colors are gold and white. He also plays around with other colors like wine and black.

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH SEUN KENTE BE NOLLYWOOD FAMOUS ACTOR

TELL ME MORE ABOUT YOURSELF?

Asides acting, I'm a Voice Actor/Scriptwriter/Model/Content Creator/Compere/Realtor and CEO,Esskent Productions.

WHAT ATTRACTED YOU TO BEGIN A CAREER AS AN ACTOR?

I never really set out to be an Actor, but certain incidents led me to this point. Primary school, i was randomly selected for a play, The Incorruptible Judge. University saw me audition to be part of a Theatre outfit, Cypress Associates, run by Kayode Peters and Abiola Aloba, and I got hooked after filling in for a few Actors who unfortunately weren't able to play the roles. The rest is history.

DESCRIBE YOUR ACTING STYLE?

I don't have a particular style: basically a mix mash of Stanislavsky, Strasberg, Meisner and Adler, to mention a few.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE DIFFICULTIES OF THE ACTING BUSINESS?

It's stiff competition on all levels. More creative are breaking into the business, even though I'm privileged to have staying power, I still need to push the envelope to stay relevant. There's also the issue of fees and the untouched issue of royalties being paid to Actors.

HAVE YOU PROGRESSED IN YOUR ACTING CAREER AS YOU HAVE EXPECTED?

The progression is slow but steady. I'm not where i desire to be but i am far from where i used to be and grateful for that.

WHAT HAS BEEN YOUR GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT AS AN ACTOR?

Winning Best Lead Actor in last year's Real Time International film festival tops the list.

OF ALL THE ROLES YOU HAVE PLAYED IN THE MOVIES, WHICH IS YOUR FAVORITE?

My best role played thus far is Saint Paul in the movie, Jonzing.

TELL ME ABOUT A TIME WHERE YOU HAD DIFFICULTY WITH A CHARACTER. WHAT WAS THE ROLE AND WHY WAS IT CHALLENGING?

It was a stage production in 2002, Moremi: the legend retold. I played the mad King Geshoh. Before then, i hadn't really done any role that required that level of commitment... Having to go "MAD" was a herculian task but the Director, William Benson, guided me me through and i was able to not only catch up but also give it a 110%. I know ex Unilag students who still call me "Geshoh" till date.

WHO IS YOUR FAVORITE ACTOR, AND WHY?

Daniel Day Lewis is my favorite Actor. He's retired, yes, but has definitely left an indelible impression.

TELL ME ABOUT WHAT YOU'RE WORKING ON NOW?

I've got a couple of projects in the works with Remi Ibinola, Koffi Idowu-Nuel, Kayode Peters, Reshayo Kasumu, Kayode Kasum, Deyemi Okonlawon and Taiye Banjo, to mention a few. Lest i forget, Mumble Jumble, Purgatory, House of Talent, April Fool and The Bachelor Party are coming your way SOON!

FACE OF HYGIENE AFRICA WAS THE ONLY PAGEANT I DIDN'T SELL TICKETS - QUEEN DORIS CHINELO

TELL US ABOUT YOURSELF?

I'm from IMO state, Oguta local govt. I'm a person who thrives in a fast paced environment... I'd really describe myself as a person with versatile skills set, a lot of integrity and a willingness to go extra mile to satisfy people.

HOW LONG HAVE YOU BEEN IN THE MODELING INDUSTRY?

Well, I first started out about two years ago; this is my two years in the industry.

HOW HAS WINNING THIS PAGEANT CHANGED YOUR LIFE?

It gives me the opportunity to make a difference. It opens doors to things that I may not have had the chance to experience before and that is something that is special about winning... But of course winning was always just a bonus, and the best part of the pageant was the actual competition. When I was younger, I was extremely shy, and I owe pageants everything for breaking me out of my shell and allowing me to become the confident young lady that I am today. Having to speak on stage in front of hundreds of people, and having to answer interview questions one on one with the judges, taught me an immense amount about confidence...

WHAT'S THE BIGGEST CHALLENGE BEING A QUEEN?

Once you have the crown placed on your head, you feel like a Queen, you walk differently, talk differently, absolutely so, some of the things that happened to you yesterday, will not succumb to them today, not with that crown on your head. I understand the expectation and huge responsibility, but most people tend to misunderstand you.

TELL US MORE ABOUT FACE OF HYGIENE AFRICA PAGEANT?

Face of Hygiene Africa is a platform to eradicate bad hygiene in Africa and the world at large, thus having a dirt free environment.

WHAT WAS THE CHALLENGES PARTICIPATING IN PAGEANTS?

I entered the modeling industry since 2016; I have 3 crowns to show for my efforts. But the road to fame and glamour was not without its rough patches... It is not a bed of roses and most people would want to endure all the drama and shame. Most organizers are fond of not giving what they promised, not only that many of the ladies are saddled with the task of selling tickets for events. Face of Hygiene Africa was the only contest I do not have to sell tickets. It is the freest contest I have seen so far... In most competitions, one needs to sell almost 300,000 worth of tickets just to be placed among the top finalists.

(C) EMPIRE PHOTOGRAPHY

such expectation has led a lot of ladies into the act of looking for money by prostituting... Many organizers of modeling and pageantry competitions are only doing it for their selfish interests. It is so sad

EYO BASSEY FRANCIS

CEO PAYPORTE GLOBAL SYSTEMS

He is the founder of Africa's most developed and largest e-commerce company. The PayPorte Company is known for a unique approach to every client. To start this Internet business in Nigeria was a challenge, as it is a very hard to do business in Sub-Saharan Africa. So who is the person, who managed to make his dream company shine bright? Let's find out who is PayPorte owner and learn more about his success story.

The path to success: Eyo Bassey His name is Eyo Bassey Francis and he is the CEO of the fastest developing Internet Company in Nigeria - PayPorte Global Systems. Eyo loves to study. He is an alumnus of the prestigious MIT and a London Business School graduate. He also took some courses at Harvard. His career started right after his graduation from Ladoke Akintola University of Technology (LAUTECH). He did his major in Pure and Applied Physics but always wanted to work in IT sector. The Applied Physics is very close to the IT sector and Eyo always felt that his future will be connected with IT. He also mentioned that even before going to the school, he had been hired by people to surf the web. Slowly, he learned how to write code and found his way in software development. In addition, he also had his own role models, who really inspired him to engage deeply with the IT sector. But most of all, his family was a great support to him. They gave him a computer on his 17th birthday, which might have been his first step in software development.

Soon after the graduation, he started to work in a company, called Socket Works Global. He was the Global Systems Administrator, but after a while, he was promoted to the position of Head of Software Engineering. Eyo gained valuable experience and learned a lot of useful things in the company, but eventually decided to move on. He wanted to build his own business. Eyo often says that the entrepreneurial instinct is probably in his blood. When he was 11 years old, he lost his dad and since he was the eldest out of 5 kids in the family, Eyo had the most responsibility. At that time, facing a lot of challenges, he even helped friends with street business make some money.

However, Eyo believes that he was not born with the entrepreneurial instinct: "Maybe it also could have been passed down to me from my dad. My dad also worked for himself until he passed on. I think the challenges of life also helped form me into this path. So I wouldn't say I was born an entrepreneur but rather, I have this great entrepreneurial spirit in me.

Basically, Eyo organized the whole management system in the company. The unplanned PayPorte The company was launched on the 25th of September, 2014 and is now considered to be one of the most inspiring projects by Eyo. PayPorte is e-commerce website. Here you can find both electronic and tech appliances and variety of daily products, such as fabrics home appliances, furniture and others. In 2016, PayPorte opened the 1k store, the first of its kind in its industry, which was able to support the customers through the economic downturn.

These days, the PayPorte company is a successful, Nigerian domestic-owned company. The funding for the company's development was received from other projects by Eyo and through different consulting services. This means that there is no additional investor other than Eyo. However, the CEO has said that the company is considering external investment and will be ready for it soon. Well, this seems to be a new level and a brand new challenge for the company. The youth mentoring and awards Eyo is no doubt one of the most popular Nigerian innovators and developer of IT technologies. His success path is an example for all the younger entrepreneurs, who might be afraid of taking a responsibility. Eyo always believes in being the best and his endless positive attitude helps others to take the first steps in the business. For this reason, Eyo Bassey is involved in several different projects across the Africa.

The PayPorte owner is a truly an inspiring person. He can be described as one of Nigeria's top IT specialist and promising businessmen. These days, his company's branches can be found in the United States of America, China, and the United Kingdom. But this success became possible only due to Eyo's great efforts and persistence. So if you have any dream – make it work by working

my name on a post about an advert: paragon queen Nigeria beauty pageant. When I checked, it was a comment saying "You can win this, Glory David. I ignored it initially then I received a message via messenger with the requirement for the pageant but I still ignored again. Getting to the office the next day I saw this same friend that mentioned my name on the ad, we were colleagues where I worked. I asked why he did it what he did and he said "Glory, you've got what it takes to win this pageant, go for it, you'd never know". This was the first time I saw pageantry as an opportunity. At this point, my only challenge were my parents, they'd never agree or accept this path I choose. My family would not support or buy the idea based on the impression they had about pageantry in general but that wasn't going to stop me. My mind was made; I packed my bag, took a leave from work and was determined to succeed in this new and different opportunity.

I arrived boot camp, excited, scared and anxious. I met very pretty ladies at a point I got intimidated, but I encouraged myself. I made it to the grand finale where I emerged winner, Paragon Queen Nigeria 2017/2018 edition. HURRAY!

To admit, my initial motivation for signing up was the price, but my experience in the competition gave me another perspective in life. A beauty queen can become an inspiration and represent empowered women.

I remain at the core of improving to be able to achieve my goals. As my journey continues in the world of beauty pageantry, I plan to establish a school in the near future, that will help train and guide aspiring beauty queens for the journey of their own.

I started a project "HOPE FOR THE GIRL CHILD INITIATIVE". It is strongly founded and geared to educate, enlighten and empower the girl child through seminars and skill acquisition. I took this as a mandate to carry out this project successfully, with presence in every State of Nigeria, to visit these states and hopefully get their governors involved in this.

Being Queen Glory David taught me that a beauty queen can be a fierce runway model and rock both worlds perfectly because there's huge different between being a runway model and being a beauty queen but I manage to play both roles perfectly.

Thank you.

My name is Glory David; I live in Port Harcourt, Nigeria. I am a 21 year old Computer Science HND student of Ken Saro-Wiwa Polytechnic Bori. I am currently the winner of Paragon Queen Nigeria 2017/2018 edition. I am a model, makeup artist and currently learning to be a stylist. My hobbies are fashion designing, traveling and painting. My major turn off is discrimination but I love respect and charity.

I have always wanted to be a model; it has been my dream even when my parents won't accept that career path for me. I've always dreamt to walk on the biggest runway in the world. I have dreams that one day I will be recognized like Kendall Jenner and Ashley graham little did I know that it took much more than dreams but more of work.

I come from a very religious home where members of the family are not allowed to do or wear certain things because those things are seen as worldly and ungodly. My dreams were almost shattered as a result of this, but there's a saying: "A journey of a thousand miles starts with just a step".

I joined an agency, got trained, "it was time to come out to limelight" I said to myself. I went for my first runway audition, made it to the second selection but then I was dropped without reasons why I wasn't selected, all I heard was one of the judges screaming "NEXT!" I went home sad and disappointed, unaware of why I wasn't selected. The next day I visited a friend who is a model, I told him of my experience the day before and all he said was "Glory, You were rejected because you aren't as tall as required". ## TELL US ABOUT YOUR EXPERIENCE DURING THE CONTEST?

First, to start with, I give all thanks and appreciation to God Almighty. My experience was fun because; I had the opportunity of meeting and interacting with people from different backgrounds starting with my co-contestants to the organizers. I also visited places which hitherto have not and would never think of visiting on my own. And I learnt few newer things about the culture of mbanese

WHAT WAS YOUR BIGGEST CHALLENGE DURING THE CONTEST?

My biggest challenge was the fact that I was seriously ill during the camping and the illness almost got hold of me on stage. To me as a person I had already given up on winning the crown but my instinct beforehand has told me I am a winner. Secondly, God was so faithful. It was a celebration of unmerited grace.

HOW DID THE IDEA OF CONTESTING FOR THE CROWN COME?

Well I saw the advertisement on Facebook and since the date was favorable I decided to give it a try.

Was it your first experience of participating in a beauty contest, and if it was, what are the qualities that helped you to win?

WHAT WERE THE ATTRACTIONS OF THE CROWN?

WHAT DO YOU THINK WERE THE JUDGES LOOKING AT WHILE DECIDING THE WINNER?

Becoming a queen has given me the opportunity to empower the girl child, raise general awareness on rape and sexual abuse in the society... I intend to achieve/touch lives through this platform by insuring the improvement of nutrition for the girl child and that illegal child labor be reduced, early marriages should be outlawed and parents should be educated about the benefits of later marriage. I intend to work in hand with teachers who have important roles to play in teaching about sex education, drug education, family planning, HIV/AIDS etc...

7 STEPS ON HOW TO GET A MODEL BODY

BY: PEARL MARGARET

Models are immediately assumed to be stick thin, very tall, size zero creatures who "no one looks like". However, there are different types of models, with various body types. Whatever body type you are looking to get, it is achievable based on your natural figure and your endurance.

1. Decide what type of body you want. Typically, for someone aspiring to be, or to look like a high fashion model, you have to be at least 1.72m, and considerably slim. Plus size models are fuller and more curvaceous, and swimsuit and underwear models are thin but with curves.
2. Take your current stats and measurements. You want to be able to have something to compare with, sort of like a before and after thing. Measure your weight, hips, bust, and waist; know your dress size etc. You can also take some pictures if you want. This encourages you as you go on and helps you determine your rate of progress.
3. Make diet plans. You might need to lose, or gain, a bit of weight to get the body you want. See a nutritionist, go online, ask around, and get a diet plan that will help you put on, get rid of, or maintain the weight you desire.
4. Make a regular workout plan. Every type of model needs to work out and stay in shape in order to look good and remain healthy. Go to a gym near you, get a personal trainer and tell him/her what you want. You can also work out on your own at home, but whatever you do make sure you get regular cardio (you can get this through activities like dancing, and some sports like boxing, table tennis), and you tone your body. Cardio gets your heart rate up and develops muscles, while toning shapes the muscles to give you a sleek and sexy shape. If you need to work on a particular area of your body, do so, but do not forget that you have to exercise your whole body as well to stay in good shape. Make sure you work out regularly, and often, to get results.

5. Take care of your skin and hair. Models have great skin and lovely hair. Take care of yours by eating lots of fruits, and drinking lots of water. Avoid foods with lots of fats or oil as this make the skin oily and gives pimples (zits). Do not use soaps and lotions that are harsh on your skin; avoid prolonged exposure to the sun. Any scars you wish to get rid of? See a dermatologist, as whatever treatment you get is particular to the skin type you have.
6. Stick to your plan. This is always the most difficult part. You have to stick to your diet and exercise regularly. You can put up pictures of the body you're aiming for to inspire you. One thing you should always do is visualize yourself with that body. It generally makes things easier, and helps you see your body changes faster.
7. Get someone else involved. We tend to strive to achieve things faster when we know people are watching. Tell a friend or family member, several if you want to, about your plans. It should preferably be someone who sees you often, so that you don't just lie to the person through the phone.

QUEEN ESTHER AMARACHI OBIOMA

MISS TOURSIM ACADEMIC BEAUTY QUEEN NIGERIA

I am Amarachi Esther Obioma, the winner of Miss Tourism Academic Beauty Queen Nigeria 2017/2018, an indigene of Isiala Mbano in IMO State, last daughter in the family of six, a Final year student of Abia State University, Uturu. I am young, smiley, Strong, passionate and zealous. I love Modeling, travelling (Tourism) and meeting new people, I also love taking pictures for the gram...

As a student, in 2017, I engaged in Blogging for one year, I used it to eliminate boredom in school, I post things like literature, poems, and stories, fashion and make up tutorials, which I get much views, then when I couldn't upgrade my website www.amicable.com.ng, Google had to keep it pending, due to my inability to raise money for the upgrade, so it was there, though it was fun blogging, you know! Maybe one day I will go back to blogging.

Furthermore, Modeling has always been my passion, seeing ladies walk on the runway was so amazing, due to my love for modeling I watch fashion channels all the time, since I couldn't go to watch them live, I feel so elated and I made up my mind to shoot my shot immediately I saw opportunity to contest for a pageant and I succeeded, not withstanding my slight bowl legs, I put that away to contest, during the camp, I was nominated as a threat to other contestants and was evicted, I burst into tears, I packed my bag, on my going, they called me back, that I have only one chance, so I should be more committed and focused, I was so happy. On the grand finale, every other winner was announced and I wasn't there, and when they mentioned, Miss Tourism, it was me, I couldn't control my tears of Joy, I was extremely happy, all thanks to God I made it.

My first outing as a Beauty Queen was awesome, when I was invited by G29 PRODUCTION LTD, as the Queen of the day at his event 'LAUGH OUT LOUD THE INVASION' at Warri Delta State in 2017, where I met some Nigerian Comedians like Mc E don Do, Ovie, Edo Pikin and the Pop Star musician Duncan Mighty. The hospitality G29 gave me was great, G29 is the number one production Studio's in Warri Delta State, Nigeria. They have everything, Band, good Mic and speakers, to mention but few. Since then I have been getting invites and meeting personalities, the journey has been good and tough though.

As a Beauty Queen, I have engaged in several humanitarian works and still doing it, which is the only thing that gives me joy, putting smile on people's faces and the blessings that comes after it, and through my foundation AMARA ESTHER FOUNDATION, I pray to touch more lives in future, that one day it will be one of the biggest humanitarian foundations.

Nevertheless, I would love to work with some celebrity brands that I admire, brands like LashbyJulietIbrahim, Payporte, Loralkejigang, Zikel Cosmetics, MTN and am going to represent them very well, the best I could.

Being a Beauty Queen, I have tasks to pay, living up to a life of emulation, to be a role model to fellow young girls out there, to inspire them in achieving their dreams and goals, to empower young girls of becoming great women in the society.

My name is Princess Joy Agbozi, a graduate of linguistics and communication studies from the University of Port Harcourt. I am a fashion catwalk model, a brand ambassador, a Beauty Queen, Publicist and an upcoming actress.

My hobbies are singing, dancing, acting, reading etc... I love food a lot and I don't joke with my sleep....My ambition in life is to be a great woman/actress and a humanitarian who will use most of proceeds I get from acting to help humanity.

My role model is Genevieve Nnaji, I love her for her class, poise, intelligence and hard work... She endeared me to love acting!!!

MODELING

I started modeling in 2014 despite having no support from my family... I had no money then to register with an agency so I had to teach myself how to catwalk by watching various foreign fashion shows ...I went for various fashion show auditions and was rejected because of my walk...But today I was selected among the 40 models that will walk the runway for L'Afrique international fashion show because I have perfected my walk!!!

I went for various pageants where I won various titles (Face of amaris (2015), Miss popularity Nigeria(2017) ,Face of Niger delta universities Top model(2016), Face of southern Nigeria Goodwill ambassador(2014), Face of exquisite Nigeria top model(2015), miss orient Nigeria miss popularity(2015) and awards, with which I used to promote myself in the industry and also touch lives..I have had my fair share of ups and downs in the industry but I didn't give up.

Today despite all my challenges in such a competitive industry I came up with "The charity Fashion Show International" Which is a charity show geared towards raising funds for various charity cases as will be picked by the team yearly!!! It is entirely a nonprofit show that basically works with volunteers that also share in this vision of touching lives..

We are mainly focused on helping people no matter how little.

And it is my earnest desire to push this project forward and make it bigger by the grace of God.

The challenges the charity fashion show is facing now is "sponsors and partners"

We believe that by next edition which is next year we will get more people to work with us and key into this vision!!!!

Current Projects - Apart from the charity fashion show, I am also looking at going to represent Nigeria in international contest abroad (Have gotten a few that are really good) which isn't a small feat and which I am still searching for sponsors!!!

All in all I thank God for how far he has brought me in this industry with little or no support from family and friends!!!!

THAT BLOOD BATH IN PLATEAU, BENUE AND OTHER PARTS OF NIGERIA

Rev. Fr. Okojie Joel O.S.A.

The intensity of the barbaric killings in Nigeria by the Fulani herdsmen seems to have quietened, but certainly not quenched. Their momentary silence is damming suspicious, and most likely not unconnected to the current political game of “camping and decamping” in the Country. We must not be distracted by this game to forget how the fundamental duties of governance have been ignored, and the lives of innocent Nigerians put at risk.

The Catholic moral and social teachings unequivocally proclaims the sacredness of human life and the dignity of the human person, but these have been threatened in our dear country by the almost legalization of the unaccustomed killings that recently took the centre stage in our dear nation. From thousands of kilometres and across the ocean you hear the cry of the people and see their blood being poured out like libation. From Plateau, Benue, Kaduna to Enugu states, the land is soaked, unable to quaff anymore blood. This reminds one of the voice of lamentation and bitter weeping that was heard in Ramah, “Rachel is weeping for her children; she refuses to be comforted for her children, because they are no more.” Jer. 33: 15.

This is shameful. It makes many Nigerians in diaspora ashamed to be identified as Nigerians among their counterparts who daily boast of breakthroughs in different fields: medical, technology, economics and in many other areas where they have exceptionally grown as a nation; not leaving out the great respect for human rights. These Nigerians are ashamed not because they got no talents but because, the chaotic, greedy and visionless style of leadership in Nigeria ostracized them and water down their zeal to build a country they would have proudly called their own.

The loud silence of our leaders about the Fulani herdsmen rampage is worrisome and a dangerous trend that may signify the gradual ebb of a nation from what holds her together. The strong but ignored question keeps resounding: Will Nigeria exist beyond 2019? I pray it does because; our unity in diversity is priceless. But the hostility of the blood thirsty Fulani herdsmen around the country and the pretentious voices of condemnation of their actions coming from under the same canopy that covers the killer herdsmen from the heat of the law are all threatening the foundation of this unity.

Although I cannot completely hold this administration responsible for every killing in Nigeria, it has however shown a disgraceful sense of irresponsibility. The promised change seems to be realisable only through human sacrifices; their political ambition is worth human blood, and the jihadist style of attack seems to be a working tool. The mayhem uninterruptedly dished out in Plateau State and in many other parts of Nigeria by the Fulani herdsmen indicates a failed nation that has been dragged into a state of anarchy. I may be a very young Nigerian, but certainly not too young not to have had a little of the good old days. I vividly recollect how the now killer herdsmen tended their flock and peacefully and freely walked in and around their host communities. They proudly hanged their shepherd's staff over their shoulders and lived their nomadic life with no religious intolerance.

How then did these people metamorphose into a terrorist group? Yes, they are terrorists even though this administration has refused to acknowledge that fact. How did the shepherd's staff moved from the shoulders to become Ak47 in their hands? Who taught the Fulani herdsmen how to professionally handle an Ak47? How did he get it? These pertinent questions expose the reality of the selfishness and wickedness of many of our leaders who believe that their political ambition is more important than human lives.

I certainly do not excuse the insensitive and cruelty of the killer- herdsmen, but our leaders should be held responsible for the incessant killings across the nation. They have used poverty, illiteracy and religion as their instrument of manipulations to create animosity between those who once lived in peace. Like some very dangerous chemical combinations, they have combined their strong political ambitions with their religious fanaticism to transform themselves into angry “gods” who are out to wipe the so-called unbelievers and political enemies.

The killer-herdsmen would not have the confidence to move into an area faraway from their settlement to maim and kill innocent citizens uninterrupted if they were not politically backed. To deny this fact is to tell the whole world how dysmally weak our policing, military strength and intelligence-gathering have become. But I know we have the best of these; it is either they willingly co-operate with these killers or are incapacitated by the “Oga at the top” for religious and political reasons.

I never doubted the political motives behind these killings, and connecting it to ethnic cleansing is not an exaggeration of the situation.

Nigerians and Christians in particular are tired of presidential visits and condolences, we need protection; it is our right to be protected. This government belongs to everybody and to no body, as the President Muhammadu Buhari once said.
